Let America's Leading Coin Broker...

Let America's leading Coin Broker select for you the coins that have the most potential.

The tremendous potential in U.S. coin investing has induced labor unions, insurance companies and other conservative organizations to invest in U.S. coins. Let me select the coins that have the highest potential for you, the same as I have done for myself and for many others in the past. You can now capitalize on the know-how and experience of an expert.

No need to waste time learning the coin business, strategies or searching for coins. You avoid guess work, doubts, and wasted effort. You don't bother scouring the markets for the right coin at the right price.

Your letters and checks are no longer returned with "sorry all sold."

Instead, all the complex planning of specific coin selection is done for you by an expert, based on research, statistics, honesty sincere judgment and a background of over 21 years in this field. Such personal service removes the blindfold of inexperience from the novice seeking the rich rewards that can come from sensible coin selecting.

I HAVE EXCELLENT COIN LOTS OF $500.00 TO $10,000.00 AND UP. You pay no brokerage fees, commissions or a bonus for my services at any time.

I derive my legitimate profit only from the coins I sell to you. I buy at wholesale and sell at retail, therefore my profit costs you nothing. The coins selected for you will be forwarded to you as soon as your check clears. You take no risk under my 5-day return privilege and money back guarantee. The coins are then yours to keep. You are the sole owner, I have no claims to them whatsoever.

When you wish to sell your coins you are at liberty to sell them back to me or to anyone you wish, or I will advise you how to sell them. In sending in your check merely suggest the length of time you intend holding the coins before selling. Think over the facts presented here, then decide to do something about it by sending in your check now.

Let's Talk Money

by

Frank Dell'Isola

"O money, money, money, I'm not necessarily one of those who think thee holy, "But often I stop to wonder how thou canst go out so fast when thou comest in so slowly."

Whenever the biting sting of Ogden Nash's words about money and man comes to mind, I remember my fifty-year-old friend William who in 1950 acquired a ten-thousand-dollar portfolio of uranium stocks. According to his philosophy and thinking, this was the rainbow that would bring in that proverbial pot of gold he had been seeking these past years.

Boyohboy! Can you imagine it? He had been promised two thousand bucks a month for life! What a beautiful nest egg for that lazy and worrisome retirement in the pleasant and healthful climate of Majorca. With that kind of money rolling in, he and his wife could really live it up.

William was a highly intelligent, stable guy who wrote provocative copy for a swank advertising agency; he was top man in his field; but as far as the market was concerned he did not know a bull from a bear and he stubbornly refused to learn the navigation of its complex and disturbing waters. He deluded himself into believing that he was in good hands and there wasn't anything to worry or get sick over.

In time the uranium boom became flatter than a pancake and William, like hundreds of others, not only lost his original investment but an additional five grand as well.

The Williams are legion in our circle of friends who carelessly enter into the chaotic world of high finance with the sole purpose of making a sensational overnight killing. It's this greed for money and power that is responsible for those smooth, fast-talking brokers who bleed the lambs dry. Common sense tells us that before plunging into the financial pool of Wall Street we must first learn the art of swimming in its treacherous currents if we wish to remain afloat and reap some of the benefits from that heady plunge. But far too many of us are only interested in making a fast buck; we don't care how often we get burned.

And now, in the language of the numismatist turned investor, we have seen the disastrous obverse of the William fiasco. Let us turn over our "coin" and take a long, studied look at the reverse and we shall proceed on the premise that William had invested his hard-earned cash in the "blue chips" of the coin field rather than in that speculative stock which ruined him financially.

Shortly after the U. S. Mint in Philadelphia announced the resumption of minting proof sets (none had been minted since 1942), William began investigating the numismatic angle. He met coin "experts" and read whatever coin investing literature came his way. The field at that time (1950), had few, if any, worthwhile books available and a similar void exists today. However, he managed to learn that the wise investor purchases proofs in lots of one hundred from the Mint in Philly at $210.00 (a set costs $2.10). This was his cup of tea.

Quietly and methodically, William laid out an investing plan in which he would invest not $15,000 but $210.00 annually for a period of fifteen years. This in a sense was his mutual fund but unlike the funds, his investment portfolio was not burdened with commissions and other sur-charges which is typical of most mutuals in their first two years of slow growth.

The coin investor does not derive the usual fringe benefits, such as quarterly dividends, compound interest, warrants, the lucrative stock splits; in fact, his yield while he "sits" on his investment is a big zero. A coin investor must be temperamentally equipped to build his nest egg without the comfort of those quarterly reminders that money begets money and he must have the patience of a Job.

Where, then, is the incentive? Any investment program has to show a monetary return while the principal remains intact and constantly working for the investor. To my knowledge there isn't a stock listed on the Exchange today that can match, for the amount invested yearly, the earning ratio and performance of proof sets. The following table, showing William's investment portfolio from 1950 to 1963, will clearly substantiate the latter statement, and it will also prove beyond any doubt why these particular coins are considered the Rembrandts and Raphaels of the coin market.

Here, then, is my startling survey of the proof set story:

A Year	B Original Investment	C Present Market Value Per 100 Sets	D Profit
1950	210.00	14,200.00	13,990.00
1951	210.00	8,900.00	8,690.00
1952	210.00	5,200.00	4,990.00
1953	210.00	4,100.00	3,890.00
1954	210.00	2,950.00	2,740.00
1955	210.00	3,100.00	2,890.00
1956	210.00	1,340.00	1,130.00
1957	210.00	795.00	585.00
1958	210.00	1,395.00	1,185.00
1959	210.00	795.00	585.00
1960 LD	210.00	775.00	565.00
1960 SD	210.00	5,100.00	4,890.00
1961	210.00	625.00	415.00
1962	210.00	625.00	514.00
1963	210.00	795.00	585.00
Total:	3,150.00	50,695.00	47,545.00

The above table sounds very much like the classic come-on bait which the shrewd, boiler room operators mail out to gullible clients. The idea is to create an image so attractive and convincing that the suckers would forthwith part with their cash. After all, weren't they promised a harvest exceeding the wildest of dreams.

THE FIFTY-SIX NOBLE MEN

By
C. A. Otto

STARTING in star-spangled July, this publication will feature a series of profiles on the fifty-six signers of the Declaration of Independence. Most of us are familiar with the circumstances leading to the drafting of this famous document, and some of us can even recite portions of it by heart, but how many of us in the charmed circle of coin collectors are aware that medals and commemoratives were struck in honor of most of these signers?

These intrepid gentlemen were the delegates sent by the twelve colonies to represent them at the Continental Congress. The Declaration, drafted by Thomas Jefferson, that most versatile statesman, was submitted to Congress on July 4, 1776. It was adopted unanimously by the Congress, but not signed until August 2. The last line of the Declaration appropriately read, "And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our love, our fortunes, and our sacred honor." Each signed his name, knowing full well that in the event of defeat, each would be hanged as a traitor.

We may wonder anew at their astonishing audacity, their amazing dare-deviltry; when we realize how puny were the resources at the colonies and how powerful the tremendous might of their mother-country. What thoughts passed through the minds of these men, as each, in turn, lifted the quill to place his name on this revolutionary declaration? Were they all motivated by the same passionate desire for freedom? Did they all subscribe to the belief that all men are created equal? Were they all as single-minded in love of their new-found land as Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin? Surely some of them, human and susceptible, may subconsciously have harbored feeling of fear, and of doubt, maybe even hopes of personal gain, interlaced with their desires of liberty from a tyrannical king.

We shall present one signer's biography each month, showing how his character, his background, his temperament, his aspirations, and his ambitions led him to that fateful moment of signing that glorious document, our Declaration of Independence.

ODD AND CURIOUS — Visitors at the Chase Manhattan Bank Money Museum in Rockefeller Center study barter items ranging from arrowheads to xiqui, metal pieces used in Central America and Mexico. The Museum is open Tuesday through Friday from 10 to 5. Admission is free.

THE STORY OF MONEY — Two youths study an exhibit tracing the development of money through the ages. This is one of the 17 exhibit alcoves displaying more than 5,000 coins from the Museum's collection of 75,000 money items. The Museum features a new exhibit every six weeks.

THE STORY OF MONEY

By Francesco Cantarella
Director
Chase Manhattan Bank
Money Museum

- Money can be found on trees.
- Certain stones were worth 10,000 coconuts or a wife.
- A U.S. note for one-ninetieth of a dollar once was in circulation.

THESE are a few of the incredible things that one can learn about money at the Chase Manhattan Bank Money Museum at Rockefeller Center in New York City.

Many people think of money as having consisted of coins or paper bills. Not so. Money, through the ages, has been made up of such articles as feathers, tea, salt, stone and — to the hipster's delight — of bread.

This is why: Many objects which were scarce took on certain values in primitive societies. Therefore, large circular stones quarried on a particular island several hundred miles away became of great value to the natives of the Island of Yap. One such Yap stone at the Museum weighs 175 pounds and was worth 10,000 coconuts or — one wife.

Another example: Honey birds are both beautiful and hard to catch. And so in Santa Cruz, the tiny red feathers from honey birds became prized objects. The natives would pile up their feathery wealth by braiding coils of hemp with the valued feathers inserted in them.

The "tree" money is a product of the more sophisticated societies in China, Japan and Malaya where metal coins were cast in tree-shaped moulds and broken off the stem as they were used.

These are just a few of the 5,000 items from the bank's collections of 75,000 types of money from every period in history that are now on display in the recently renovated museum.

If you're interested in small change then you'd enjoy seeing the gold coins — one from Nuremburg is about the size of a large pin head. Then there's the rare 1804 U.S. Silver dollar. One of these was recently sold at auction for $36,000.

The Museum has two galleries — one with money from foreign countries and the other containing U.S. coins, documents and notes.

One of the eye-stoppers in the U.S. gallery is the collection of

A COLLECTORS' BONANZA

C. A. Otto

AT long last, The Treasury Department has rescinded the prohibition against private ownership of gold — payable paper money. This new ruling will bring out of hiding about $19 million worth of gold certificates that were never turned in after the Roosevelt-Morgenthau orders of 1933. Neither gold coins nor foreign gold paper money are affected by the new ruling. Also, the gold certificates will still be payable only in legal tender.

Most important to collectors is that gold certificates can now be bought and sold openly and can be included in displays of United States paper currency.

If you just can't wait to see some of these goldbacks, go out to the Coin Exposition at the Better Living Center Building at the World's Fair, June 1, and feast your eyes on Father Hutchins' exhibit which includes several of these gold certificates. Someone up there must have whispered the good tidings of the new ruling to the Father because only three days after the announcement he included several in his May 4 exhibit at the Fair.

PROOF SETS: Proof sets are struck only at the Philadelphia Mint. A set consists of one coin of each denomination being issued, 1, 5, 10, 25, and 50 cents, face value 91¢, struck on highly polished blanks and struck by slower hydraulic presses to obtain best feature lines. The following year's set may be ordered any time after Nov. 1 of the previous year. The price is $2.10 per set, and they may be purchased in lots of 1, 2, 5, 10, 25, 50, and 100 sets. Remittance should be in the form of a money order made out and mailed to the Superintendent, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia, Pa. All orders are conditionally accepted on the ability of the Mint to satisfy

A ROMANCE IN FINANCE

By
Pieter F. X. deVos

THE "coin investor" has finally arrived in the market place.

Heretofore, relatively few have been cognizant of the opportunities that were present. Today, due to the tremendous increase in collectors, and the resultant publicity in newspapers, periodicals, market letters, books and research organizations, the investing public is becoming keenly interested and knowledgeable for the first time.

A great many investors, believing the market in securities, real estate, etc., too high and with ever-increasing inflation, are looking to diversify their holdings. Hence, a great deal of money is beginning to drift into the coin market, and it is just the start.

This is the advent of a huge bull market in properly selected uncirculated and proof coins. Naturally, the so-called public will not participate until it has enjoyed a substantial advance. This is almost academic and certainly historical.

The list of reasons for purchasing coins are far too numerous to mention due to the lack of space. Here are a few of the most important reasons:

1. The ever increasing number of collectors. Ten years ago there were one million, today there are eight million, three years from now a reasonable assumption would be fifteen million.

2. The ever-diminishing supply of coins of all descriptions, due to disappearance, hoarding, collectors, inflation, increasing population. Tons are taken abroad each year by soldiers, sailors and tourists, never to return.

3. The silver dollar has reached the melting point. It will not be too long before the other silver coins will be in the same category.

4. A growing market by financially responsible firms and individuals.

5. There is no American uncirculated or proof coin prior to 1950 selling for less than three times its face value, with the exception of some silver dollars. Ninety percent of all uncirculated American coins prior to 1950, sell from five times to 5,000 times their face value.

The following facts should be of interest:

1. Silver is selling at $1.30 an oz.

2. There are 371.25 grains of pure silver in a silver dollar.

3. A grain of silver is worth $.0027083.

4. A silver dollar contains $1.0055 worth of silver.

5. Two half dollars contain $.9355 worth of silver. The same is true of four quarters and ten dimes.

6. A leading and most successful mutual fund states that an investment of $10,000.00 in their fund in 1948 is worth $23,000.00 today—(December, 1963).

7. An investment of $10,000 in 1948, $2,000 in uncirculated pennies, the same in nickles, dimes, quarters and halves is worth a minimum of $105,000 today. In this instance there could be no possible loss of principal.

A coin-lover who loves collecting coins for the sheer adventure of it, is Art Lovi, A Floridian of German extraction, who loves dancing almost as much and has won several prizes to prove it. He has collected and exhibited a complete type set of currency, coin, and gold for every country in the world. He is that simon-pure collector who never enters into competition and thus maintains an amateur-standing.

His collection is now 96% complete and is well-known throughout the numismatic world. It is unique because it is mounted in such a way that every bill, coin, and gold piece can be seen from both sides. This is accomplished by using swivel panels that are set upright. This novel method is Mr. Lovi's own creation.

Included in his American collection is a complete type set of U.S. coin, gold, and commemoratives; also a type set of small and large currency in $1, 2, $5, and $10 denominations.

His collection has been shown over a hundred times in cities from coast to coast in the last four years. It is a "must" for every collector worthy of his name.

But however fantastic and incredible the aforementioned table is, it represents an accurate evaluation of the velocity and acceleration of the U. S. proof set. The main purpose of presenting the study was to pinpoint and highlight the security and high return of these "gilt-edged bonds." But more than that, I wanted to show and amaze the neophyte coin investor of the trend and sharp action of these "blue chips" whose curse through the years has shown a steady upsurge. The end of their spiralling climb is nowhere in sight. Who knows, they might soar higher than Everest!

Past performance certainly counts when considering the possibility of underwriting any enterprise that requires a yearly investment of money that has been earned by the sweat of our brow. To further my argument of the stability and earning capacity of these special coins, permit me to present another table which will show the staggering astronomical growth of proof sets from 1936 to 1942.

The statistical data cited in the survey were culled from the teleprinter circuits of the Central Numismatic Bureau, Pace. The Monetary Research Letter, The Numismatic Scrapbook, Coin World and Coins.

Here again are accelerations that'll make you wish you had that d . . . crystal ball.

A Year	B Original Investment	C Present Market Value Per 100 Sets	D Profit
1936	181.00	70,000.00	69,819.00
1937	181.00	33,000.00	32,819.00
1938	181.00	20,000.00	19,819.00
1939	181.00	16,000.00	15,819.00
1940	181.00	11,800.00	11,619.00
1941	181.00	11,000.00	10,819.00
1942-5	181.00	7,000.00	6,819.00
1942-6	181.00	10,500.00	10,319.00
Total:	1,448.00	179,000.00	177,852.00

We have seen the phenomenal growth of proof sets—a rise which the most bizarre imagination could not possibly conceive. Far be it from me to prognosticate the future of proofs but who would dare to refute that if a William of today were to invest in a hundred sets a year, from 1964 to 1973, that his return would not approach unbelievable heights? (Even if bought at a premium from coin dealers.) Past action has proven that this is the area to get into; not tomorrow, but now! Another ten years may be too late. No, I am not a prophet but you have examined the tables and seen with your own eyes the unbelievable and continuous ascendancy which has persisted from 1936 to 1942 and 1950 to 1963. I could illustrate earlier examples, such as Matte proofs (issued from 1908 to 1916) and New-die-proofs, but again I must say that the market value of these early coins, if broken down by years, would assume levels which would astound and confuse the most mature of coin investors.

Another eye-opening illustration for the numismatist turned investor who is interested in "putting his eggs in many baskets" are the uncirculated rolls which can give you an equity undreamed of.

Briefly, if you had bought Jefferson nickel rolls from your local bank in the years of issue (1938 to 1963), you would have accumulated 69 rolls which at $2.00 a roll would have cost you a nominal $138.00, and today's market price for these Jefferson uncirculated rolls is $7,300.00. Can you visualize the return from one hundred sets of Jefferson rolls? Take pencil and paper and figure is out.

Still another example is the Franklin-Liberty Bell Type half dollar. Their years of issue were from 1948 to 1963, a total of 35 rolls which commands at this writing $3,150.00 for an over-all investment of $350.00 at ten dollars a roll.

And now, a word about the penny. Most people do not like carrying

8. World production of silver is 210,000,000 ozs. yearly. World consumption of silver is 418,000,000 ozs. per year.

9. Some selected uncirculated silver coins are now legal investments for insurance companies in several states.

10. An investor can always borrow face value on his coins. In the case of uncirculated and proof coins, an investor can usually borrow more than the face value.

In the writer's opinion, the safest and best investment today is uncirculated Morgan silver dollars, minted prior to 1905 and selling under two dollars each. There is no American uncirculated coin prior to 1905 selling for less than thirty times its face value excepting some silver dollars. The silver content of the silver dollar should reach two dollars in the near future, which makes it a good hedge against inflation. The existing supply of uncirculated dollars is diminishing daily and the numismatic value is increasing rapidly. The main and only reason the silver dollar has not followed the market of other U.S. uncirculated coins is due to the fact that the Treasury had a huge hoard for redemption of silver certificates. There are no more; consequently, the only remaining barrier has been removed. In a relatively few years, there will be no Morgan uncirculated silver dollars selling under five dollars each.

In other areas, there are many interesting purchases to be made, such as: certain rolls of uncirculated pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and halves; also, uncirculated commemorative sets, uncirculated type sets, American and Canadian proof sets.

MINT SETS: Uncirculated coins of the two mints (Philadelphia and Denver) (10 coins) may be ordered by mail from the Superintendent, U. S. Mint, 18th and Spring Garden Sts. Philadelphia, Pa. Cost is $2.40 per set. Sets of the current year may be ordered after May 1st. Sets of the immediate preceding year, up to that time. Over-the-counter sales of mint sets are available at the San Francisco Assay Office, Denver Mint and Cash Division of the Treasury, Washington, D.C. Mail orders must be placed at the Philadelphia mint.

NEW DIME VARIETY DISCOVERED!

POSSIBLY the first important variety in the Roosevelt Dime series was discovered by F. G. Spadone, author of the Major Variety-Oddity Guide of U.S. Coins. Discovered by accident Spadone calls this variety the 1964 Blunt tail 9 and the 1964 Pointed tail 9.

Spadone states: "This variety is comparable with the Canadian 1947 half dollar and the 1926 far 6 nickel."

The new Blunt tail 9 and Pointed tail 9 is readily visible with a 4 power glass, it is quite distinct. It will be a collectors' item. Thus Spadone states, "it will be listed in his next edition of the guide book in 1965, with all available data."

It is too soon to elaborate on this variety for one of them could be rare. This new variety could and will most likely boost the whole Roosevelt series.

UNC. BAGS SILVER DOLLARS

The U. S. Mint Has No More for Sale

I had the foresight to buy unc. bags silver dollars a few weeks ago when available.

SHORTAGE

is so great now that I will buy bags of dollars circulated, uncirculated, junk dates—just so it's a U. S. silver dollar. Prefer to buy in lots of 25 bags or more at a time. No small lots wanted.

FABULOUS PROFIT POTENTIAL

25% to 300%

In a year or less

I do not guarantee this statement but past experiences will prove it possible.

UNC. BAGS $1,300.00 and up

This is 30c per coin over face.

A local bank will finance face value on any amount. Make no payments—just pay interest and renew note every six months. Bank will store coins for you.

SILVER DOLLAR VANISHING!

How long will they last? Will they ever be minted again and still contain a full dollars worth of silver? According to the latest reports, the outlook is dim. We and many others feel in a short while they will have vanished from circulation, only to be found in the hands of coin collectors, dealers, and investors.

Since the silver dollar run on the treasury several weeks ago, which took all but a few scarce coins, the prices have been constantly rising.

You can still get an assortment of uncirculated silver dollars over 75 yrs. old at a reasonable price if you buy now. Many satisfied customers are putting away these fading dollars for their children. If you would like a mixed box of 200 coins, 20 each of the following, you can still purchase for the low price of $333.00 pennies with their change. True, the cent cannot purchase anything of value except a stick of gum out of a slot machine. But allow me to quote from the April number of The Monetary Research Letter which is published by Monetary Research in Washington, D. C. The quotation, without comment, follows:

"Percentage-wise by far the greatest swings in profits have been made by investors who bought uncirculated U. S. cents in bags from their local banks in the years of issue. For example going back ten years if an investor had bought one bag of each year from each mint starting in 1953 he would have invested $1,250.00 and would have accumulated 25 bags of pennies each containing $50.00 face value. The reason for the 25 bags is that there were three mints until 1956. These 25 bags of pennies would be worth today over $17,000.00. This does not take into account the possibility that the investor might have acquired in the year 1960 the so-called Small Date cents which would be worth $37,000.00 for the two bags with a face value of $100.00. But whether the investor made $16,000.00 profit or over $50,000.00 profit in either case the profits were there, are there now, and the worst that could have happened would be a lot of pennies which the investor might have had to spend if the prices had not risen.

There are very few investments, speculations or even gambles which offer the same margin of profit as uncirculated pennies."

In next month's "Let's Talk Money" I shall present a glossary of numismatic terms for the embryo collector, plus a discussion of the Morgan and peace silver dollars, BU rolls, and Canadian proof-like sets. Meanwhile, the numismatics and coin investors of today would achieve greater status if they'd heed the words of a sixteenth century saint who summed up the problem of money rather well when she said: "For my own part, I believe that honor and money nearly always go together, and that he who desires honor never hates money, while he who hates money cares little for honor."

ISRAEL TO THE FAIR

DORON and Anat Weber, young Israeli residents of Kew Gardens, take time off from P.S. 99 to give their undivided attention to arrival at Kennedy Airport of new silver coins struck by Bank of Israel to commemorate Israel's 16th Independence Day, 2000 of the new coins arrived on El Al Jet to be on hand for opening of N. Y. World's Fair, where they will be displayed and sold in the American-Israel Pavilion and the Hall of Education. The silver coin is legal tender with a value of five Israeli pounds ($1.70) and depicts New National Museum in Jerusalem. Doron and Anat's interest is more than amateur. They are the children of Robert Weber, U. S. Representative of the Israel Government Coins and Medals Corporation, under whose auspices the coins are distributed.

NATIONAL COIN BROKERS

— COIN INVESTMENT IS OUR BUSINESS —

In a market "on the come," it is better to have the "goodies" in your hand, than a returned check—which may mean on hot items, you finally pay 30%, 50% to 100% more before getting actual delivery from a dealer.

It is safer to buy "at market" than shop for bargains (which may be non-existent for actual delivery) in a rising market which latter action may mean no coins in the end and missing the action completely.

We will bill for the difference. Authorize us to buy at market if we are sold out. Otherwise your check will be returned.

We are your brokers in the true sense of the word. Give us a chance to do the job for you. Complete international (Canada and U.S.A.) teletype service at your command at NCB. Open your investment account at National Coin Brokers.

Place your order today. We profit on deliveries—not returned checks. State "Buy at market if sold out."

MARKET PRICE RECORDS SHOW COIN VALUES TODAY— 5-10-15 YEARS AGO

- A complete guide to values of Brilliant Uncirculated Rolls of United States Coins and Proof Sets will appear in a special section. This special section, instituted with the May, 1964 issue of NATIONAL COIN INVESTOR, provides essential numismatic information for coin dealers, hobbyists, collectors and coin investors. (This information is published by NATIONAL COIN INVESTOR for informational purposes only and is not to be construed as a recommendation to buy or sell any coins so listed.)

On the following pages, NATIONAL COIN INVESTOR has published as a service to its subscribers, the retail value of all Uncirculated rolls of cents, nickels, dimes, quarters, halves and — proof sets — for the past 15 years. Subscribers wishing to learn the recent retail prices of these rolls and proof sets, will find this information listed in the last column under the heading, “recent price — 1964.” (The prices in this last column will be up-dated monthly to show the recent price at press time.)

How To Check Prices:

1. The first page of our new MARKET PRICE RECORD guide to BU rolls of U.S. coins gives the mint date, quantity minted, and the market values in 1949, 1954, 1959, 1961, 1962, 1963 and 1964. Coin collectors-investors can tell-at-a-glance the price history of any given roll of coins merely by consulting the MARKET PRICE RECORD tables.
2. For example: Let us take a look at the tables showing the roll of 1935-P Lincoln cents. The letter “P” after the date, denotes that this roll of coins was minted at the Philadelphia Mint.
3. The second column in the MARKET PRICE RECORD shows that 245 million 1935-P Lincoln cents were minted during 1935.
4. The third column shows that this particular roll of coins was valued at $2.65 per roll of 50 cents in 1949.
5. The fourth through ninth columns indicate roll prices for the years 1954 through 1963. (In 1963, this roll of 1935-P cents increased to $60.00 per roll.)
6. The last column — up-dated monthly — shows the recent price at press time.

With this information, a beginner can easily trace the recent market price record of all BU (brilliant uncirculated) rolls of coins from 1949 through 1964. And, by making a thorough study of the individual price changes from year to year, plus taking into account the mint runs, as well as current prices, you can easily estimate the future prices of all rolls in advance.

Sample copies of National Coin Investor were distributed during the week ending May 10, at the International Coin Exposition held in the Better Living Center building at the New York World's Fair to coin collectors.

U.S. Steel Unisphere at Fair

R INTERNATIONAL COIN EXPOSITION

Mr. and Mrs. John Fay of Shaker Heights, Ohio. Mr. Fay is president of American Numismatic Investments, Inc.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Schradzki display a portion of their collection.

Mrs. George B. Topping is engaged in a chess tournament with Russell Kurpis of Bronxville, N. Y.

FREE DRAWING

During this first week of the Coin Exposition, thousands of coin enthusiasts participated in a Free Drawing for a Roll of Kennedy Halves sponsored by National Coin Investor. The drawing took place at 1 P.M. on May 10th at the Coin Exposition.

A visiting numismatist, namely Robert Penchina of 70-29 153rd St., Kew Gardens, N. Y. drew the lucky winner out of a carton filled with names of thousands of contestants. The winner was: Alvin Wiener, 25 Conarc Dr., West Hartford, Connecticut. Mr. Wiener will receive a roll of uncirculated Kennedy Halves and Mr. Penchina will receive a free subscription for participating in the drawing.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

YOU'LL PROFIT

By reading and answering the classified ads in this section. Hundreds of opportunities for you to make and save money

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING REQUIREMENTS

1. Classified advertising rates are ten cents a word, minimum order 25 words. Payment must be made before insertion. Address: NATIONAL COIN INVESTOR, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20, N. Y.

2. The right to edit all copy and to reject any ads which in our opinion, are unethical or objectionable. Transactions are based on good faith. Violations of ethics are grounds for refusal of further advertising.

3. Blind ads are not acceptable. A post office box number may be used only if seller's residence or place of business is filed with the publisher.

4. Although we do not demand advertising copy to be typewritten, we are not responsible for errors resulting from longhand copy.

5. All items must be properly described. The use of abbreviations as listed in this magazine shall be the standard.

6. All U. S. material described shall be graded as set forth in "A Guide to Grading U. S. Coins" by Brown and Dunn.

7. Advertisers are asked to comply with these suggestions; immediate refund for coins returned within seven days of receipt, no trade considered final until both parties have received coins and both parties are satisfied (no answer within week of receipt to be considered acceptance), all coins to be in stock when advertising copy submitted.

8. Please include postage for requests for information or quotation and include 15 to 20 cents for handling charges on small orders.

9. If you have reason to believe the party you are dealing with is using unfair practices, please notify this magazine.
